

WHY DID DINOSAURS DISAPPEAR?

One day all the Earth was covered with dinosaurs and there was little space for the rest of the animals.

As they were a lot and they were very big, the other animals got furious and they wanted the dinosaurs to disappear so that they could have more food, space...

All the animals came together for a meeting there; they discussed how the dinosaurs could die easily.

Together they decided that the best thing would be to put strong poison in the water so that when the dinosaurs drank it they could die.

All the animals went to find all the bad substances around the world and put them into the water.

One day when the dinosaurs drank the water, they started to fall and die.

The other animals jumped very happily, so they drank to celebrate death and they also died because they didn't realise that water was poisoned and many species disappeared.
